FOUNDER'S NOTE

Welcome to the Coral Tree Foundation. This year, our on-ground interventions have been dedicated to creating resilient, self-sustaining communities. Rather than imposing top-down solutions, we have focused on nurturing grassroots leadership and building sustainable livelihood models that directly respond to the unique geographical and economic challenges of the Bhilwara and Pali districts.

Our work spans several vital themes. We are actively empowering rural women to step into entrepreneurship, providing the necessary mentorship and support for them to take charge of their financial futures and become community leaders. In the agricultural sector, we are reimagining how small and marginal farmers cultivate their land and interact with ethical markets, anchoring their practices in climate resilience and economic dignity. Furthermore, we are proud to be bringing critical resources to remote, hilly terrains. This means not just introducing clean, reliable renewable energy to off-grid households, but doing so by breaking traditional gender barriers and training local women to act as pioneering energy engineers for their own villages. Alongside these grassroots efforts, our interactive educational initiatives are actively shaping hundreds of local students into the next generation of environmental stewards.

Behind each of these efforts is a profound human story of courage, resilience, and community ownership. To discover the specific milestones we have achieved, the innovative models we are successfully piloting, and the inspiring personal journeys of our grassroots leaders, I invite you to explore the full, detailed breakdown of our programmes in the subsequent pages of this report.

INTRODUCTION AND OVERVIEW

Coral Tree Foundation

is a Section 8 Non-Profit Organization officially registered on February 19, 2025. Operating predominantly in the Bhilwara and Pali districts of Rajasthan, CTF focuses on rural livelihoods, women entrepreneurship, climate action, and clean energy. The organization primarily works alongside farmers, women, and rural youth to enable stable and dignified income opportunities, build direct market linkages, and promote climate-resilient practices. By focusing on practical skill development and grassroots integration of clean energy, CTF ensures that marginalized communities remain at the very center of their own development.

VISION AND MISSION

Vision

By 2047, the Coral Tree Foundation envisions an India that is self-reliant in production, globally competitive, and deeply rooted in strong local economies. The organization strives for a future where farmers, women, and rural communities are active contributors to economic growth, enjoying access to sustainable livelihoods, healthcare, and meaningful education. At the grassroots level, CTF's ultimate goal is to build a network of over 1,00,000 farmers and women entrepreneurs, ensuring each earns a minimum monthly income of ₹25,000 for dignity, financial stability, and long-term resilience.

Mission

- Promote sustainable livelihoods and income generation.
- Strengthen women's empowerment and entrepreneurship.
- Improve access to health, nutrition, well-being, and inclusive education.
- Drive climate action, promote natural resource conservation, and enhance disaster preparedness.
- Build community participation and foster partnerships for sustainable impact.

GEOGRAPHICAL FOCUS

The Coral Tree Foundation actively operates across diverse and challenging regions of India, including Rajasthan, Jharkhand, Delhi, West Bengal, Jammu and Kashmir, Bihar, and Tamil Nadu. In Rajasthan, our targeted on-ground interventions are deeply rooted in the Bhilwara and Pali districts, specifically within the Sahada block of Bhilwara and the Marwar and Desuri blocks of Pali. By focusing our efforts on these specific regions including remote, hilly, and off-grid villages we are able to directly reach and uplift our core demographic of marginalized smallholder farmers, rural women, and local youth.

SDG ALIGNMENT

Our vision and foundational operations are firmly anchored in the goal to build a sustainable and inclusive society aligned with the SDGs.

UNITED NATIONS SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT GOALS (SDGs)

We actively contribute to global priorities encompassing poverty reduction, the creation of decent work, and the advancement of gender equality. Furthermore, by emphasizing environmental conservation, climate resilience, and actively fostering collaborative networks, we strongly align our grassroots work with building sustainable communities and achieving SDG 17 (Partnerships for the Goals).

OUR KEY PROGRAMS

1 RURAL WOMEN ENTREPRENEURSHIP (RWE) FELLOWSHIP

Implemented in the Sahada and Marwar blocks, this program supports rural women to build sustainable enterprises. Four women fellows were selected for an 8-month structured mentorship, receiving a monthly financial stipend of ₹5,000, personalized handholding, and intensive capacity-building workshops.

OUR KEY PROGRAMS

2 CLIMATE-SMART AGRICULTURE: KRISHI SETU PILOT PROJECT

Led by Swati Gehlot and Jayendra Vasava as part of the Changelooms: Youth Leaders in Climate Action (Cohort 4) fellowship, this 6-month pilot (Dec 2025–May 2026) operates with a budget of ₹90,000. It connects small and marginal farmers directly to ethical markets, such as heritage hotels. The initiative aims to increase farmer incomes by 30–50%, generate livelihoods for 12 women earning ₹2,000–₹3,000 per month, and reduce chemical fertilizer use by 50–70%.

OUR KEY PROGRAMS

3 SOLAR ELECTRIFICATION INITIATIVE

In partnership with Bindi International, CTF is bringing clean energy to the remote, hilly terrains of the Desuri block. The project provides solar home lighting to 150 households across 10 villages, reducing dependency on unreliable grids and kerosene. Crucially, it champions women-led development by training three local women (Kiran Kanwar, Shweta, and Yogita Chouhan) as "Solar Sahelis" to independently manage installations and maintenance.

OUR KEY PROGRAMS

4 CAMPUS CLIMATE VARTALEAP

Conducted across 10 government schools and colleges in the Desuri block between September and November 2025, this youth initiative engaged over 700 students (classes 8th to 12th). The 2-3 hour "chaupal-style" workshops focused on understanding carbon footprints, critical thinking, and inspiring practical, sustainable daily actions.
